You will have the option to transition into a pure Customer Success role when you fill your portfolio of accounts.

As a Customer Success Executive, your responsibilities include:

- Onboarding new corporate customers:
  - Once a moved practitioner has been engaged, the CSE role is responsible for helping their main contact build stakeholder support within the prospective organisation
  - This may include presentations to senior people, product trials and/or various meetings and conversations with key sponsors in the business
  - The CSE will also be responsible for following up website leads and contacting new HR contacts in companies that we would like to target via LinkedIn, email and phone to secure meetings.
- Increasing the average spend and lifetime value of companies utilising Strengthscope®:

- Setting customers up for success by ensuring a smooth onboarding process after point of sale
  - Educating and engaging existing Strengthscope® users through emails, phone calls, meetings, events and webinars with new content, products and support tools

- Building a strong referral network within the existing customer community:
    - Build strong relationships with key influencers in our existing customer community to increase the number of monthly referrals
    - Ensure high levels of satisfaction delivered by the customer success processes including customer integration and highlighting areas of possible improvement
    - Ensuring people who were trained in Strengthscope® previously and who have moved to different companies are quickly followed up with and supported in their new role.
